

MUMSRU is THE leading internet magazine for single mums

Being a single mum is hard; looking after the kids, washing, cooking, ironing; and that's before work. It all takes up time. Mothers need a time to unwind, to settle down with a good book, film or even a magazine. Well there's an online magazine for all you single mums out there and it's called MUMSRU: THE magazine for single mums.

Here at MUMSRU, we are unique in the fact that we cater for the mum who is both mum and dad. We celebrate the woman who is unique, empowered, caring, sexy and vibrant; exactly what a woman should be. From the stay-at-home mother to the high-flying career woman balancing on that work/life tightrope, there's something for everyone in MUMSRU. We have the latest from the entertainment world, all the celebrity gossip you need, and a large lifestyle section dealing with everything from beauty & health, to dating and relationships, right up to parenting and travelling. There's practical advice on areas such as cars, housing and financial matters and a large array of recipes for all you Nigella-esque domestic goddesses out there; whether you want to feed the kids, try something new or impress the significant other in your life. In between being a mother and a career-woman, it's essential to make time for the sexy side of life, and our erotic section will help you do just that. We have stories that titillate, toys to make bedtime more fun and a WOW effect which does exactly what it says on the tin to leave our readers hot under the nightie ;).

With a readership of two hundred thousand, MUMSRU is one of the most popular magazines on the Internet and our army of followers are growing daily. We offer everything that the single mother wants and needs to know. To paraphrase the beautiful Beyoncé, this is our call to 'all the single mummy's' to join the informative, entertaining and sexy world of MUMSRU.
